

BOOKLET TO INFORM ON DEVELOPMENT OF TERRITORIES

The publication of a factual, up-to-date illustrated booklet will inform the public on rapidly changing conditions and developments in the Australian territories.

It is called Australian Territories Today, and its appearance is part of a comprehensive information programme, said the Minister for Territories (Mr. Barnes).

In Papua and New Guinea, in particular, some idea of the pace of change was reflected by the increase in Administration expenditure over the past five years from $51m to $102m.

Over the same period the Commonwealth's grant towards this expenditure increased from $24.6m to $62m. In addition, expenditure in Papua and New Guinea by other Commonwealth departments and instrumentalities increased over the same period from $11.7m to $35.8m.

Mr. Barnes said that one of the aims of the publication would be to inform Australians on just what was being achieved with the help of this grant and by the work of some 26,000 Australians now in Papua and New Guinea, many more of whom would be needed before Australia's task there could be accomplished.

Films

Other means of providing up-to-date information will include films, television, talks and displays.

Mr. Barnes said the first major Territories Display this year had opened at the Royal Brisbane National Show on August 11.

Special features of the exhibit included a model showing how the main centre of Darwin would look on the completion of the many projects now being developed there; samples of Northern Territory minerals; samples of Papua and New Guinea products, including cocoa, coffee, tea, timber, and Recent progress in the Territories was illustrated by a large selection of photographic enlargements in colour and black and white.

At the conclusion of the Brisbane Show the exhibit would move to Adelaide and Perth.

ELDO UPPER STAGES DUE SATURDAY

A big C141A Starlifter civilian aircraft is expected to make its second trip to Australia, landing at Woomera at 10.30 Saturday.

Owned by the American Lockheed Georgia Company, the Starlifter was used earlier this year to bring students of the U.S. Air Force Staff College to Canberra.

This trip, it will fly in the French second and German third stages of the Eldo rocket to be launched from Long Beach, California, on August 23.

The aircraft is being chartered by the French Government for the flight.

The U.S. Air Force has 100 military versions of the Starlifter which are carrying military stores to Vietnam and flying out wounded troops to America.

The aircraft can be used for military or civilian work, but not one has ever been sold for civilian purposes.

The aircraft has a wing span of 161 feet, an overall length of 145 feet, and the Starlifter is 39 ft. 3 in. high and has a maximum speed of 560 miles per hour.

With a pay load of 22,500 lb, the economic cruising speed is 508 miles per hour.

Captain F. E. Williams is heading a five-man crew on the Woomera Elido, which will stop over at Coober Pedy on August 24 and a stop over at Coober Pedy on August 24.

It will put down in Perth for health and immigration clearances.

The Starlifter will be in Australia until September 1, when it will fly to New Zealand.

It will call at Sydney on Saturday after unloading its cargo at Woomera and at Canberra next Tuesday, giving demonstration flights for the Press and interested parties during the visit.

WOOMERA TO HAVE WINE TASTINGS

The Australian Wine Bureau will sponsor five wine testing sessions here, starting with one in the Junior Staff Mess at half past seven tonight.

If you haven't got acquainted with at least a goodly cross-section of our wonderful range of South Australian wines, you're missing out on a lot of fun and fascination — man, you're just not with it," says walrus-moustached John Stanford, S.A. manager of the Australian Wine Bureau.

There will be a total of about 650 men at four major tasting functions, to which eight S.A. winemakers will travel from Adelaide.

They are—in addition to Mr. Stanford—Messrs. D. H. A. Rogers (advisory officer), N. P. Hancock (production manager of S. Smith & Son Pty. Ltd.), R. E. Heath (technical manager of Thos. Hardy and Sons Pty. Ltd.), R. W. Lee (S.A. sales manager of Penfolds Wines Pty. Ltd.), J. Minks (Sales manager of Walter Royneil & Sons Ltd.), R. J. Rodda (representing Mildara Wines Ltd.); and G. B. Seppelt (secretary of B. Seppelt and Sons Pty. Ltd.).

There will be a wide range of wines, covering sherrys, white table wines, red table wines, and ports, under various S.A. makers labels.

The wine tastings have grown in importance in South Australia in the past few years. Last year 10,327 people attended 145 sessions.

The Wine Bureau, newly formed promotional body for the wine industry in Australia, took over the tastings programme in all States from February this year.

South Australia is the largest wine-producing State in Australia, accounting for 71 per cent of the country's total output.

The timetable at Woomera is: Thursday 7.30 p.m., Junior Staff Mess; Friday, 7.30 p.m., W.R.E. Staff Mess; Saturday, 5 to 7 p.m., Tasting, Senior Mess, and 7 p.m., formal dining in Senior Mess; Sunday, noon, tasting and buffet luncheon, Eldo Mess.

NATURAL HISTORY EXHIBITION BEING PLANNED

The third annual exhibition sponsored by the Woomera Natural History Society will be held in the United Church Hall on September 24.

A distinguished botanist and authority on native flora at the South Australian Museum, Mrs. M. Kenny, will give a talk at the exhibition.

The local natural history society found its origins in the first ever exhibition in 1963, organised by Chapman J. W. Henderson of the United Church, which created interest in the town.

The president of the society, Mr. R. R. Sexton, says the 1966 exhibition will be similar to the first one when local people offered their private collections of artifacts, gemstones, lapidary work, flora, insects and pictures for display.

Children have been invited to enter live animal, bird or lizard exhibits.

They will be encouraged to prepare their exhibits during the school holidays and so learn something of the surrounding native fauna, observes Mr. Sexton.

Safety

Any intending exhibitor worried about the safety of his collection can reserve a glass topped display cabinet by contacting secretary, Mrs. Joyce Hewitt (W532) early. Adequate security measures will be taken.

The proposed exhibition will be open afternoons and evening and will be free.

Mr. Sexton said Wyalla members of the Northern Naturalist Society had promised to enter an exhibit, demonstrating the wide interest in the exhibition.

People intending to enter exhibits should arrange space, layout and other requirements by contacting these committeemen: Mrs. Hewitt (W532), Colonel Honeysett (W1), Mr. Renden (W412) or Mr. Sexton (W339).

Go-Go wins Army award

"Go Action — Go Army" is the slogan which brought $100 to Corporal R. G. Aston of Headquarters, Central Command, Keswick Barracks.

Two weeks ago, promoted to corporal, the National Service trainee, brother of Mrs. Elaine Powell, of Woomera, was announced as winner of the Army's recruiting slogan competition last week.

He also took a $4 honourable mention with "Tou Man Is Vital".

As a National Serviceman of the first intake he has really made his mark on the Army after one year of service.

More than 500 slogans were submitted by servicemen and their families, C.M.F. members, Army school cadets and Department of Army civilian employees in all States and overseas.

Corporal Aston's patents live at Trinity Street, College Park, S.A.

Another South Australian soldier, Private R. Roberts of the Army Trade Training Centre, Homestead Barracks, Greenacres, S.A., also won a $1 honourable mention award.

Queen honours heroism in shark infested waters

The Queen has awarded the British Empire Medal for Gallantry to two seamen who supported their First Mate in shark-infested waters because he could not swim.

They are George Patrick Connolly, of 14 Elvira Street, Palmyra, W.A., and Kees Van Loon, of 118 Deane Road, Scarborough, W.A.

The incident occurred when a 14-foot launch, used to carry stores to the lighthouse vessel Cape Don, sank while heavily laden and with seven men aboard off Adelaide Island, on the north-west coast of Western Australia on May 5 last year.

The first mate, Mr. J. S. Winton-Dunn, who was in charge of the launch, could not swim and was supported in the water by Seamen Connolly and Van Loon.

Without thought for their own safety and without knowing how long help would be in coming, the two men performed a feat of endurance and self-sacrifice by supporting the first mate.

Island are notorious for the prevalence of sharks. Because Van Loon is a Dutch subject, the award had to be approved by the Dutch Government.

Mr. Wattchou heads Jaycees

Mr. Roy Wattchou, manager of the Woomera West Welfare Club, was elected president of the Woomera Chamber of Junior Chamber Australia at a meeting last Monday night.

Mr. E. Fagan was elected vice-president and Mr. L. Jacobs got the job of chairman of the "ways and means" body.

Other officers elected were: Secretary, Mr. Ken Carroll; treasurer, Mr. R. Tennant; public relations officer, clubhouse on the way

The Department of Works has called tenders for the construction of an asbestos-covered, timber-framed tennis clubhouse for Woomera's Tennis Club.

Tenders close at noon on September 6.

An official commented that the clubhouse might be completed this year.

INTER-SCHOOL SPORTS DAY

Forty students of the Orreroo Area School visited Woomera last Friday and Saturday to compete against the Area School boys in football, basketball, softball and debating.

The visitors were billeted with Woomera families overnight which also featured a social in the school's gymnasium.

Muscle was supplied mainly by the Pentagon dance group but Mr. Andy Kirkpatrick and his group also played.

The social followed two debates in the gymnasium, adjudicated by Miss Sue Hatch, a librarian on the range, who gave the junior section to the Woomera children with a margin of four points over the visitors.

Orreroo won the senior section with 39 points to the local children's score of 35 points.

On arrival in Woomera the visitors were given lunch by the school Welfare Club and soon after the girls clashed on the basketball courts.

Orreroo won both the A and B Grades — scoring 45 to 25 in A Grade and 37 to 28 in B Grade.

Meanwhile the boys' football brought a reversal of form as Woomera ran away to victory 34-24 to 22.

Each school took a victory in the girls' softball games. A Grade went to Woomera 38 to 8, and Orreroo won the B Grade with a score of 22 — two more than the losers.

In the Saturday morning boys' basketball, Woomera easily took the laurels, scoring 42 against the visitors' 16.

Lack of guidance breeds hoodlums

"The hoodlum section of the community comes from homes where there is no parental guidance," says Father of the Year for 1966.

He is Sir Roden Cutler, Governor of New South Wales, who was speaking at a Sydney luncheon after receiving the title.

"My only critical remarks would be aimed at parents who relaxed their parental activities to find an easy way out," said Sir Roden, father of four sons.

He said that many youngsters were only concerned with making easy money and did not worry about study or working for small rewards to ensure a good future.

This is where fathers found they were out of date — where they could win or lose.

But, added Sir Roden, the present generation was just as good as his generation.

He is the tenth Father of the Year, being the choice of the Father's Day Council.

Last year's title winner, Mr. Bill Northam, an Olympic yachting gold medalist, presented Sir Roden with a silver tray in passing on the title last Friday.

Australia's former Prime Minister, Sir Robert Menzies, was the title winner in 1964.

More migrants being sought this year

Australia will seek 148,000 settler arrivals — 4,000 more than the actual number in 1965-66 — this financial year.

Of this number the target is 92,000 for assisted settlers, nearly 3,000 more than last year.

About 56,000 settlers are expected to come without Government help.

The main source of migrants will again this year be Britain, but a new measure introduced for the first time this financial year is expected to stimulate emigration from other countries.

The Government is taking into account the greater number of departures than in earlier years which it believes is part of a greater mobility of people as the result of growing world prosperity.

"But it is not to be deplored. It is an important factor in a growing understanding between people of different nationalities and in the wider dissemination throughout the world of technical skills and knowledge," says Immigration Minister Hubert Opperman.

"Every settler, even if he does not remain here permanently, leaves behind him a contribution from his work, his skill, his knowledge, and takes with him an understanding of Australia and Australians."

The "new ways" worked both ways and without it Australia would find it more difficult to attract overseas people with the right skills and knowledge for the country's development, observed Mr. Opperman.

Social benefits

Commenting on Budget proposals for increased social service benefits for migrants, Mr. Opperman said need, rather than nationality, would in future determine whether a person would receive a benefit. Migrants arriving to settle permanently in Australia were already entitled to child endowment, unemployment, sickness, funeral and rehabilitation benefits and maternity allowances. In the past in some cases migrants had been unable to receive age, widows' or invalid pensions because of their nationality. The proposed legislation would give them the same statutory right to the pensions as Australians.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Sir,
Over the past few days I have encountered many wrong ideas and misconceptions concerning the raising of funds for Spastic Welfare through the Miss Woomeers Quest.

This letter is intended to clarify the issues, ever which there is apparently some confusion.

All money raised as a result of the Holden Car Quiz being conducted by the Sportsmen's Association, plus money to be raised at a Local Talent Concert planned for September 20, plus other fund-raising activities of the Sportsmen's Association, will be credited to the Miss Woomeers account for payment to the Spastic Association.

This amount of money, plus the funds already raised, will be paid to Miss Woomeers' credit for competition in the Miss South Australia Quest, which is to be finally judged on October 31, where the entrant with the highest total will be adjudged Miss Charity South Australia, which is additional to judging of Miss South Australia.

I have heard statements that 1,000 tickets at $5 each is too many for a car, but in this respect I would point out that the car is valued at $3500, which means a return to the quiz entrants of 70 per cent, which is much higher than most other quizzes conducted.

A 1,000 to 1 chance with such a high percentage return is indeed good value. To be worth such a large sum the car is a Premier, automatic, with X2 engine, power disc brakes, vinyl-covered roof, pressmatic radio, and many other desirable extras. This car is on display at Kay Cameron Motors, where intending ticket buyers are invited to inspect it, and tickets may be purchased at the same time.

It will be finalised at a Local Talent Concert, to be conducted at the Theatre on September 20, where the car will be on stage during the evening, thus providing one item of an ambitious entertainment.

In conclusion, it should be unnecessary to state that all fund-raising activities, both by the Sportsmen's Association, and on their behalf by other bodies or persons, are subject to strict audit.

Improve your knowledge What is elastic hysteresis?

Elastic Hysteresis — the phenomenon produced when a material is loaded past its yield point and work is dissipated in material, producing heat.

If a material is so loaded and the load is then removed, the material does not return to its initial dimensions.

The strain remaining after the load is removed is known as the permanent set. If a cyclic load is applied so that the maximum load carries the material past its yield point, work is dissipated in the material during the cycle and produces heat.

Andamooka Trip
A trip is being organised for members and associated members to Andamooka on Sunday, September 25. Own transport, eat and drinks, etc., would be required. Cars will leave at approximately 9 a.m. from the Theatre Car Park. Those interested in going, and also anyone with spare seats available, please contact the Secretary, P. McCarthy, W161.

Watch Gibber Gabber for further notification of outings in the near future.

CHESS MOVES

Owing to circumstances beyond his control, the Secretary has been unable to make it for some weeks, so that our publicity has suffered somewhat. However, awy commitments have now been fulfilled, we are back in town, and we were pleased to see a fair turn-up at the C.W.A. Clubrooms last Monday.

Andrew and Chris Parker are continuing to develop their chess ability by games against senior players. There is no doubt about these lad's talent for the game, and their interest ensures that they will continue to improve.

Travel Group formed for British migrants

A Travel Group, intended to get cheap fares for people from the United Kingdom to have a holiday in England, has been formed at W.R.E., Salisbury.

It was formed after a meeting there earlier this month.

In addition to saving the time involved travelling by sea, the group will save money on air fares by about $354 each.

Similar savings can be made on group travel to any other part of the world, but, of course, there has to be some group and take about the travel route and stop-over points.

At least 15 adults are required for the cut rates, with children between two and 12 years counting as half an adult and travelling at half price.

To get the concession the group must travel together both ways. Any person unable to make the return trip because of illness or any other reason would have to make up the full fare, but for $9.50 travellers can take an insurance cover for these circumstances.

Members of the W.R.E. Institute are being asked whether they want to form a group to travel to the United Kingdom at Christmas time, giving travellers six weeks there.

Woomera residents interested may contact Mr. Fisher, Safety Section, Building 37, T.S.A.S., Salisbury, according to a local enthusiast.

THE BUSY BEES ARE HERE AGAIN

Brownies and Girl Guides will soon be calling on you seeking jobs.

Their objective is to earn funds to assist the general expansion and administrative programme of the association, swell Pack and Company funds and make possible the development of a permanent camp and training site.

If you can offer them some work within their capacity to carry out and are prepared to pay them a fair reward for their efforts, we will be most grateful.

Please ask for the official job card and record any payment on it. Here are some jobs which a Brownie or Guide may be able to do for you: Cleaning brass, cleaning silver, darning, sewing on buttons, cleaning shoes for mother or father, washing up, cleaning windows (Guides), car washing, ironing (Guides), making beds, cleaning venetian blinds (Guides) shopping errands, minding children, cleaning bicycles, reading to sick or elderly people, weeding.

For special jobs requiring more time or team effort please contact the local Guide.

Brig. Gray top scorer at rifle shoot

Brigadier Albert Gray, formerly a Salvation Army officer at Woomera, who retired in 1963, took top score at the Woomera Rifle Club weekly shoot last Saturday.

The shoot was over the double 700 yards range, based on off rifle scores plus handicap with members competing for a club trophy.

Brigadier Gray scored 74 points out of a possible 80 points.

When a resident of Woomera he was a consistent shooter with the club and has since represented South Australia in several interstate shoots.

Harold Fox top scored for the local competitors with 72 points and Jack Evans was next with 66.

Winner of the day's Trophy was Harold Fox who is once again recording scores in keeping with his ability.

Now that the club has decided to hold all shoots on Saturday afternoons, attendance is increasing and shooters are experiencing better light conditions. Conditions on Saturday were quite good except for some slight mirage.

Next week's shoot will be held over the double 800 yards range, and all members will meet at the Ponds Gate at 1.30 p.m.

Men's table tennis results

Results of matches played August 17 were as follows: Postal 1 defeated Trackers 18-3.

Postal looked every inch the top side in beating Trackers. Glen Sloan was unbeaten in singles and doubles. Ian Foots again played extremely well to win two singles and a double with Sloan.

The second doubles was a good rubber with Sloan and Campbell being fully extended to win 21-16, 13-21, 21-11 against Pierre and Davies.

Asco defeated R.S.L. Blue 9-2. Asco ran out comfortable winners here. Once again there was an upset when Ron Daly (Blue) beat Neil Rooney 22-20, 17-21, 21-17. Russ Foster played well to win all his rubbers. Ron Foreman won two singles and a double, despite some difficulty in moving around the table, due to a football injury sustained recently. Saints defeated R.S.L. Gold 8-3. The result of this match was never in doubt with Gold forced to forfeit four rubbers through lack of a third player. Warren Prochazka played virtually a lone hand in winning all his singles against Carroll, Price and Bailey. Gold newcomer Butterworth battled well with no hope of success against the strong Saints side.

Trackers 2, defeated Caladonia 11-0. Trackers had a very easy win. Although outclassed, Green, Althoff and Jaunay never stopped trying. Honours were fairly even for Trackers with Coaks, Gray and newcomer Dickson all in good form. Postal 2 had a bye.

FIRST WICKET DOWN

by JAY JAY
 The "big men" are now reaching the stage in their competition where the numbers remaining to do the "flying" are gradually being whittled down.

Let us hope the final rounds will provide the same excitement and interest which surrounded last year's Cricket Association finals. Good luck to the teams still in the game, and may the best side win.

For two weeks now we have run an advertisement reminding cricket enthusiasts of the annual general meeting on August 23. Interest in the meeting and the competition during 1966-67 is running high, so we can expect big things.

Organisers of the various teams are already busy rounding up players. That man Russell, from Senior Mess, probably one of the keenest club men in the game, has been probing all the possibilities, and with suitable responses we could see Senior Mess a really strong side.

No less than three clubs are still holding money belonging to the association. Seems to me all three clubs could find themselves on the outer if they don't come to the party before August 30.

R.S.L. are being very cagey and not letting out too much info, but I believe they will be a team to be considered this season. The Singing Foreman may be a force to be reckoned with, and I hear a quicke bowler is included in the list of probabilities.

The return to Woomera of Harry Shatlock is a happy note for the Cricket Association. Harry is a very keen association man, and his contributions to the game, both as an administrator and umpire, have been greatly appreciated. The 1966-67 organisation could be considered enhanced if Harry can be prevailed upon to return to the fold.

Rumour has it that John Bell, of soccer fame, may seek a nomination as Association Secretary this year. If this is true I hope he makes the grade. Soccer has prospered under John's expert hands, and he could be a great asset to the Cricket Association.

On the subject of R.S.L.: Have you heard about their intention to provide their own practice wicket at McCallum Oval? Other clubs might do well to infuse some of this sort of keenness into their scheme of things. Nice going, R.S.L. I hope your effort is regarded with a good cricketing result for the year.

Last year's winners, Staff Mess, will emerge this season brim full of confidence. The dazzling brand of cricket they played to carry off last year's ashes was a great effort, and even though some new faces will appear the spirits are still high.

"STRIKE UP OUR BAND"

by PAULA FELKIS

Normally five o'clock on Saturday afternoons is dull in Woomera, but this was not so last week.

It was almost as if the Pied Piper himself had come to call on us, alerting the children (and mums and dada, too), who, in excited groups, hurried up to Butemont Square at the first roll of the drums.

Doors were flung open, heads appeared over the garden fences, as one by one they emerged, unable to resist the invitation.

It is odd how the sound of a military band can trigger off the urge to follow, and I was no exception, and the fact that dinner was cooking in the oven meant little to me as I trooped up the street behind the rest.

This, the second appearance of the Army Central Command Band attracted a larger audience than was the case with their earlier performance.

On such a lovely morning I had expected to find a large crowd listening, but perhaps 9.30 was too early for some. However, those present obviously enjoyed every minute of the melodious concert judging by the tapping of feet and it might have only needed a couple to start dancing on the grass for others to have joined in.

The kiddies were very enthusiastic as they sat around on the grass eating ice creams.

Too rarely are we able to enjoy such entertainment here, with the only outdoor music coming from transistor radios. As one shop assistant remarked to me: "Pity we cannot enjoy this every Saturday morning."

I agreed most heartily, and wondered why we could not, and what in fact had happened to our Town Band since their brief appearance at last year's "Carols by Candlelight" function.

"NOT GOOD" So I decided to find out and asked Mr. R. Garnaut, the president of the Woomera Town Band how they were getting along.

"Not good," he replied with a regretful shake of his head. "Only two members turned up at the last practice." He went on to explain that Blue Struck had robbed the band of much support with members constantly on duty, and since then numbers and interest had fallen right off.

Mr. Garnaut said he hoped it might be possible to recruit new members from some of the stalwarts of Woomera who had been here some time, but even if this were possible they would need training, and this would take time.

"And what about the younger boys?" I asked, and was told there had been some interest in this group but not sufficient to develop them into permanent band members.

"The young ones just seem to play around," Mr. Garnaut commented.

That, therefore, is the present state of affairs, and it does not appear that we shall hear the series of concerts which the Woomera Town Band reported would be their aim last February.

So unless the Army Central Command Band has awakened a desire for this type of music in Woomera, it would seem there is nothing else to do but push the button on the old transistor radio again if we wish to hear music in the open air.

What a pity with such green grass in the towns centre and Breen Park.

ALONG THE FAIRWAY

The 1966 Woomera Open Champion is Wg. Cdr. Len Bird.

In a close match he held off a strong challenge from Mr. Nick Goodall, over the last 18, to win the event by two strokes.

The full details of the day's play:

Open championship — L. Bird with Mr. Nick Goodall as runner-up.

A Grade handicap—Mr. Jack Flanagan with Mr. Jeff Fuss as runner-up. A.M. handicap: Mr. Ross Kemp; P.M. handicap: Mr. Bob Crowder.

B Grade championship — Mr. Lance Wuttke with Mr. Bert McLaren as runner-up.

Handicap winner was Flt.-Lt. Vic Barkell with Mr. Ted Koinski as runner-up. A.M. handicap: Mr. Mr. Geoff Bee (Port Augusta) and P.M. handicap went to Mr. Jack Giles.

C Grade championship — Mr. Bob West with Mr. Jack Ferguson as runner-up. Son beat father with Mr. Jamie Mole winning the handicap event from Mr. Allan Mole. A.M. event to Mr. Stan Ward with the P.M. going to Mr. Paul O'Dea.

The teams event was won by Messrs. J. Ferguson, J. Mole, A. Mole and D. Talfourd. The "Diggers" event, returned servicemen, was won by Mr. Jack Flanagan.

Although the field was reduced because of factors beyond our control the day still appeared to be most successful.

The associates surpassed their previous high standard and the catering they supplied was magnificent.

No "open" at Woomera would be complete without Messrs. Carl Stephens and Ken Bayliss who act as our course stewards.

Again this year they kept the result boards up to date and greatly assisted the match committee in finalising the results.

Did you enjoy the barbecue? Our thanks must also go to Messrs. Stan Gilliver, Jack Daly and Jeff Fuss who donated their "aprons" and manned the barbecue.

Our thanks also go to the other members who assisted the committee with the preparation of the course and surroundings.

Do you like the new foyer? In the coming few weeks we have a plan of alterations to complete and we hope that when completed they will meet with your approval.

During the course of the open the handicapper had a "ball," and I suggest that members check the handicap board before hitting off.

This week's event is for the long-awaited Cameron Motors trophy and is stableford over 18 holes. Maximum handicap is 27. See you at the 19th.
